

We are opposed to BellSouth's petition to de regulate broadband because it would place independent internet service providers at a serious disadvantage and may make it impossible for them to operate. We moved to Sonic.net an independent isp in California after years of poor and unreliable service from various major providers. We need the internet for work and personal use, and our children for school.